

Congratulations to DOAS Commissioner Brad Douglas

He was recently honored at Georgia Enterprises for Products & Services' 7th Annual Working Wonders Day ceremony with the "Spirit of State Use 2010" award, for his unwavering support of the organization and the State Use Council.

Through the State Use Program, Georgian workers with mental or physical disabilities make meaningful and productive contributions to their communities. The positive social impact of this program is realized in part by ensuring a minimized financial impact on state operations through competitive pricing and great service.

In March 2009, the Department of Administrative Service (DOAS), Georgia Enterprises for Products and Services (GEPS) and the State Use

Council consummated a contract that now serves as a guide for the State Use Program administered by Georgia Enterprises. All contract parties strive to make Georgia's program one of the nation's best while creating employment opportunities for people with disabilities.
